

Privacy Notice

In AC Consulting Services we value your privacy and trust, therefore information you provide is protected under explicit Mexican Law published May 7, 2010 in straight relation with handle protocols and appropriate use of supplied information despite country of origin. At any time, your data is in reserve with purpose no other than professional related drive to our core services.

The terms "you", "your" and "yours" refer to provided and collected data through specific upload windows in our Contact Us page and further cookies gathering. The Terms "we", "us", "our" refer to AC Consulting Services Partner and Associate Consultants.

When you register and submit your data through contact message section, you provide personal information such as Name, Email and Company, endorsing your purpose message headed to our attention, at the expectance to rise our interest and professional call back. In this sense, we appreciate receiving true, plentiful and accurate information for fast and appropriate reply.

By using our web site, you give consent of use and interpretation to provided data, at any time within ethical practices and head intention of establishing respectful and professional contact with sell of our services in mind, which in best situation derive on contract arrange, service provision and periodic invoicing.

In any case, original and subsequent provided information is treated in compliance with Article 1, 3 and relative others in referred May 7, 2010 Mexican Law. Moreover, utilization of provided information and gathered cookies for analytics related to our main service interests, is as well complementary drive for collected information in this website.

In the event of future change in our Privacy Policy, AC consulting will keep May 7, 2010 and related protection regulations as lead consideration to any modification & amelioration of hence established information protection practices.

To us, personal information is sensitive and only headed to suitable professional reach and approach of our prestige staff, aiming to promote and sell of our service. Other than that, there is no posteriori usage of received data, which can be dismissed of our records by specific request to privacy@acconsultings.com

In AC consulting we know trust and integrity are core values in our Simple to Complex way of thinking and performance. Treating your information fair and confidential is no exception in our firm philosophy.

Thank you for the time and interest to present privacy policy and terms. We look forward to hearing from you soon.

Cordially

AC Consulting Services

achavez@acconsultings.com

AC consulting services
© Intellectual property